Lifetime Chance Given Students In Art Tour

"The chance of a lifetime" is offered to Wartburg students who are leaving for Iowa City on the chartered bus to attend the art tour Sunday, Feb. 8, at 11 a.m., stated Helen Wright, art instructor.

Total of 30 famous paintings from the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York will be displayed with such familiar names as El Greco, Goya, Rembrandt and Hals as artists. A conducted tour of the exhibit will be given by a professional lecturer of the graduate school of the University of Iowa.

"The Horse Fair" by Rosa Bonheur has been one of the most publicized because of its unusual size and its familiarity, reproductions of this painting being in many homes today. More artistic, however, according to Miss Wright, may be El Greco's "The Adoration of the Shepherds."

After the exhibit free time will be offered for selective entertainment, and the group will return at 9:30 p.m. Everyone on campus is urged to attend.

Wartburg To House New Music Chapter Of National Group

Wartburg will soon be the home of a new chapter of a national organization if present plans of music students are carried out.

Organization of a state unit of the Music Educators' National conference was discussed at a meeting in the Music building. Attending the meeting from Wartburg were three Wartburg music majors, Margaret Fritschel and Lois Landdeck, seniors, and Esther Blasius, junior, and Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the music department.

Wartburg provided the largest representation of any college at the meeting at Drake University.

Music Educators National conference is a professional organization composed primarily of high school music teachers.

Wartburg chapter of the MENC will be the second student music chapter of a national organization to be formed on the campus this year. The first was a sub-chapter of the American Guild of Organists, organized last fall.

Special plans are being made for student members at the fall meeting of the Iowa Education association in Des Moines.

Director Appointed To Relations Office

The Rev. C. G. Shalkhauser, director of public relations, was recently appointed a member of the Endowment committee of the American College Public Relations Association, an international organization.

He is also membership chairman for the state of Iowa and second vice-president of the new Lutheran College PR association, organized in October.

Succeeding the Rev. Mr. Shalkhauser as president of the Wartburg Alumni association is the Rev. W. C. Langholz, development director of Wartburg. The fund raising part of the Alumni association will now be handled through the development office, as all projects are closely related to the development of a "Greater Wartburg."

President At Meets In Chicago, Omaha

President C. H. Becker will attend a meeting of the Board of Christian Higher Education of the American Lutheran church and the presidents of ALC colleges Monday in Chicago. President Becker will discuss the subject, "Equity in American Lutheran Colleges."

Omaha will be the scene of two meetings to be attended by the college official next Wednesday and Thursday. The Board of Charities of the ALC will meet there, as will the college of church district presidents.

President Becker will spend next week-end in Nebraska speaking in behalf of Wartburg. On Friday, Feb. 6, he will go to Des Moines attending a teacher training institute.

New Morning Hours To Go Into Effect

New morning hours in college cafeteria and Den will go into effect Monday, Feb. 2, according to C. W. Fries, business manager of the college. These changes have been decided upon through a series of recent meetings.

From Monday through Saturday the cafeteria will serve breakfasts from 6:45 to 8 a.m. In order that workers in the cafeteria may attend early services at church if desired, breakfast on Sunday will be served from 6:45 to 7:15 a.m. On each day doors will be closed promptly on time.

Castle Den will open at 8:15 a.m. instead of at 8:30, as has been the custom. Sunday the Den will open at its regular hour, 6 p.m.

Another point brought up in the recent meetings is the matter of cutting campus, which habit not only spoils the appearance of the grounds but also brings dirt into the buildings.

"Do not cut on campus, especially between the girls' dormitory and the main building as well as from the main building to the gymnasium," admonished Mr. Fries.

North Hallers Elect

Elected to the North hall dormitory council at its meeting Monday night in the dining hall were Eugene Opperman, senior; James Zuehl, junior; Max Fiedler and Paul Webben, sophomores. Zuehl will serve as chairman of the council.

These Ambassadors will strive to promote harmonious dorm life.

Miss Lohn At Meet

Miss Perna Lohn, librarian at Wartburg, left Thursday, Jan. 29, to attend the midwinter conference of the American Library association, which is being held at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago. The conference meets from Jan. 29-Feb. 1.

What Happens To 'Wien' Orphan To Be Told In 'Singende Jugend'

What happens to the poor orphan boy of Vienna?

That question will be answered when the German club shows the film "Singende Jugend" next Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. in the college gymnasium.

The story of an orphan boy who is cast out into the street, the film shows how he is picked up by a man whom he assists in collecting alms, from passers-by. The man tires of his life of beggar, so he finds employment in a boy's school.

The orphan follows him, enters the school and is maltreated and laughed at. On a trip to the Tyrol the orphan tries to escape and puts his life in danger among the mountains.

The "Wiener Saengerknaben," famous boy's choir from Vienna, sings sacred music and songs throughout the film. The Vienna boys' choir toured the United States before the last war.

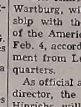
The natural background is "Wien," the beautiful capital city of Austria. Also shown is scenery of the Alps and the fine architecture of a Tyrolean village.

The film is a German language production with English captions to help those not acquainted with German to understand the film.

Hinrichs Begins As 1948 Interne In Youth Dept.

Peter Hinrichs, 1946 graduate of Wartburg, will begin his internship with the youth department of the American Lutheran church Feb. 4, according to an announcement from Luther League headquarters.

As official assistant to the youth director, the Rev. Marcus Rieke, Hinrichs will be seen at Bible camps, leadership training schools, grass roots programs, rallies and conventions throughout his year of service.



Peter Hinrichs

Hinrichs is at present a student at Wartburg Theological Seminary in Dubuque. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. P. E. Hinrichs of Eureka, S. D.

The new interne will succeed Chester Patten, who has served in that capacity the past year and who will return to Capital university to complete his training at the seminary there.

Policy of calling internes to assist in the youth department of the church was adopted at the Ames Luther League convention in the summer of 1946.

Hinrichs was active in choir, Luther League and other organizations while a student at Wartburg.

Miss Austerud Joins

Miss Stella Austerud, education instructor, recently joined the local chapter of the Wa-Tan-Ye club, a national invitational service organization.

Waiting To Pay

Half Brings Eight To Knight Campus

Second semester brought eight new students to the Wartburg campus from all over the middle west. All of these students are freshmen, as announced by the registrar.

From Waverly are Sherwin Lindner, Paul R. Bruns and Charles Pickeimeyer. Other Iowa students are Ronald Onnen of Manson and Gladys Kruger of Manly. Colorado sent Delbert Olson of Littleton, while Norman Ernst came to Wartburg from Deschler, Neb. Representing Chicago is Kenneth Steinlein.

Two At Rotary Club

Guests of the local Rotary club for the past three Thursdays have been Robert Engelbrecht, senior, and James Zuehl, junior, together with three high school seniors.

Brief speeches were made by each of the guests at the last meeting. Meeting with the students in this way does much to foster a better relationship between the local schools and the community.

Orientation Course Suggested

One of the most common gripes on the campus today concerns leadership, not only of the ideals and motives of various student leaders, but of their methods of leadership. For this reason some students have wisely suggested a special fall orientation course for the officers of student organizations.

Nothing is more noticeable in college societies than the lack of organization, and nearly nothing is more harmful to them than this lack. Such an inadequacy means a lessening of the great potentialities of student groups.

Some may consider the formalities of parliamentary procedure and business management rather out of place in student organizations; yet they should realize that our 20th century society demands certain formalities, certain set methods of activity. It may be that this social condition is a poor one, but can anyone dispute the need for a positive reaction to such a condition?

Delegates to intercollegiate meetings have been quick to see this need for training in leadership. They realize that potential leaders are useless without training in the formalities of positions of leadership. That is why other organizations, church and civic ones in particular, conduct leadership institutes. That is why the Luther League sponsors leadership training schools and why the Lutheran Brotherhood will conduct a Brotherhood Institute on the Wartburg campus Feb. 9.

Knowing this need for improvement in the methods employed by organizational officers, the TRUMPET suggests to the Student Senate that it make plans for a fall orientation course before the end of this school year. Such a course would include instruction in parliamentary procedure, intra-collegiate activity relationships and financial methods. This might be extra work for some students, as well as the deans and the treasurer's office, but it will prove well worth it.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

It is good that we students of Wartburg, through our March of Dimes, have the opportunity to help our brethren in the war-torn countries. It is also good that we are able to aid them through donations of clothing during drives for such, but there are other ways in which we could extend a helping hand.

I am thinking of those years during the war. Back home we had drive after drive for this or that benefit, but we in the high school were not content with that. We staged shows in order to raise more money to help out.

As I stated before, it is good that we have our March of Dimes, but this is not enough. Our March of Dimes is limited to the few who know about it and to the few who can afford to give. True there have been donations from far places, from people who are acquainted with our activities here at Wartburg, but there still remains the fact that we can do more. Also, this would give those students who cannot give because of their financial limitations a chance to do their bit. Since we have this power to do more, why not exert those efforts to the good of our fellow men?

I am sure there are many students on our campus—talented or otherwise—who would be more than glad to contribute some of their time and efforts toward the promotion of such a project. This project could be a play or a show in which students present their individual talents.

God has given these powers to us. Let us not waste them, but let us use them to help others.

Getting Acquainted

Citizen--Cradle To Sheepskin

By Herman Diers

Having held citizenship in the Wartburg family for almost all of his life, Donald Wiederaenders intends to complete his career there this spring when he graduates. One of the few natural-born citizens, Don was born on the college campus while it was located in Clinton.

Except for a short period of nine months spent at Iowa City in 1931 and a hitch with Uncle Sam's navy, Don has been around here ever since he first joined the family. He was graduated from St. Paul's parochial school in Waverly and from Waverly High in 1944, taking an active interest in both track and football.

Transfers Credits.

In 1946 Don transferred his credits to Wartburg and began attending classes at the school of which he had been a part for more than twenty years. Dramatics and membership on the student-faculty activities committee helped to occupy the time that he was not spending studying or serving as assistant manager of the new Deli.

This year Wartburg harbors the office of the president of the Future Teachers association, Northeast Iowa district, for Don holds this position in addition to the office of president of the local chapter. He was also elected to serve as a member of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Don Prepares To Teach.

Preparing for his profession as a teacher, Don is practice-teaching algebra and general science at the high school and instructing contract bridge at the adult education classes at the high school.

Contract bridge tops Don's list as a way of passing time, but he also enjoys table tennis, track, swimming, hunting and fishing. During the summers Don has followed Greeley's advice and taken the road for the West. In Washington, Oregon and Idaho, Don has done everything from working in a war plant to sweating out the harvest in the wheat field.

"Supply and demand" helped Don to decide to be a teacher, and, besides, "There are three months to yourself."

More New Books

Of special interest to students are the following new books recently added to the college library and listed by the librarians as indicative of the trend of the times.

"Human Destiny" by Leconte du Nouy is a philosophical treatise which attacks materialism and pleads with man to use all the spiritual powers within him to save himself and the world from disaster. The author valies "understanding" above "reasoning" in man's relation with his fellowmen.

A fast moving novel is "The Moneyman" by Costain. It is an historical romance of 15th century France, in which the central character is a fabulously wealthy merchant who is also the king's treasurer.

"Screwtype Letters" Lewis has come out with another book, "Beyond Personality: The Christian Idea of God." This series of talks is an explanation of orthodox Christianity. Mr. Lewis is easy to understand, yet the reader finds himself thinking as he reads.

"Inside U.S.A." by John Gunther is a popular and readable book about America. What makes it entertaining is its unscientific approach to a question, "What Makes America Go?"

Cagers Enter Win Column With 59-44

By Adam Meldinger

Wartburg cagers entered the win column after two straight defeats by drubbing the cellar-dwelling William Penn Quakers 59-44 here last night in an Iowa conference tilt.

Paced by "Dutch" Sauerbry and Jim Keller, who scored 14 and 12 points, respectively, the Knights led all the way except for a few moments in the very early stage of the game.

Paul Bruns and Tom Hankins did a fine defensive job while Keller did most of the rebounding.

Coach Substitutes.

Substituting freely, Coach Ax Bundgaard attempted to save the boys as much as possible for tonight's encounter with the Dubuque university Spartans.

The Quakers managed to keep within striking distances during the first half and the Knights played rather unsteadily. The half ended with Wartburg leading 27-19.

Quakers Narrow Lead.

Early in the third period, the Quakers narrowed the lead to 29-24 and 30-26. The Knights then sped up the pace and pulled away steadily until they led 55-33.

Sapp and DeWitt led the Penn scorers with 10 points apiece.

It was the Quakers' seventh conference loss against no victories. For the Knights, it was their third conference win against six setbacks. The Knights have a season's record of five wins and six defeats.

Buena Vista Edges Out Knights By Holding Single-Point Margin

By Adam Meldinger

Buena Vista's sharpshooting Beavers managed to hold onto a slim one-point margin in the closing seconds of the game, to edge out the Wartburg Knights 48-47 in a hotly contested Iowa conference battle here last Tuesday.

Wartburg failed to get started and trailed 28-14, with five minutes remaining in the first half. The Knights then switched to a pressing man-to-man defense and began to close the gap. Two long one-handers by Jim Keller, two quick buckets by Lloyd Spier and free throws by Keller, Paul Bruns and Bob Engelbrecht put the Knights back into the ball game.

Bruns Star of Night.

Paul Bruns, playing his second game as a Knight, was the star of the evening as he paced the Knights with his all-round floor work and led all scorers with 17 points. His 12 points in the first half kept Wartburg in the ball game.

Wartburg tied the score at 37-all with nine minutes to go when Wayne Imm split the net with a set shot from the side.

Remainder of the game was a see-saw affair in which the Beavers finally came out the victors by virtue of a gift toss by reserve Glen Ottman with 55 seconds left to play.

Vern Huseman, Jim Waters and Fred Lawson did the burden of the Beaver scoring, with 13, 12 and 11 tallies respectively. "Dutch" Sauerbry was second high for Wartburg with 10.

Upper Iowa Hands Loss.

In a fracas, which at times did not appear to be a game on the hardwood, played last Saturday at Fayette, the Upper Iowa Peacocks bunded the Knights a 58-52 loss in a game in which the Black and Orange were charged with 32 personal fouls.

Again the Knights failed to click in the opening minutes, but came back strong in the final few minutes, only to have the rally fall short. The taller Upper Iowa team controlled both boards most of the time, but its shooting percentage was lower than was that of Wartburg. Failure at the free throw line cost the Knights the game as they could make only 8 as compared to 20 made by the Peacocks.

Trailing 25-41 at one time in the third quarter, Wartburg began to close the gap as the Peacocks failed to make a single basket in 19 attempts during eight minutes of play.

Keller, Bruns Spark.

The late Knight spurt was sparked by the shooting of Jim Keller and Paul Bruns and the pressing floorwork of Tom Hankins and Bruns.

In the final three minutes the Knights played at a terrific pace. Keller swished in two longs, Bruns added a couple of long set shots, Lynn Brown put in a long net splitter and Tom Hankins added a beautiful one-handed long shot. However, time ran out and the Knights were still trailing by four points.

Paul Bruns, making his debut as a Knight, led the Wartburg attack with 14 points while Keller had ten.

Ken Hutzel and George Richards led the Peacock scoring with 13 points apiece.

Knight Grapplers Fight To Draw With St. Ambrose

By Adam Meldinger

In the first wrestling meet in the history of Wartburg college, the Knight grapplers fought to an 18-18 draw with the St. Ambrose Bees as a preliminary to the Wartburg-William Penn basketball game here last night.

Knights made a fine showing in their first appearance and were heartily accepted by the the crowd. It was the first of nine tentatively scheduled meets. The boys are expected to improve as the season advances and bring many more thrills to Wartburg wrestling fans.

Remainder of the meets will be held in the college gymnasium. The next meet is to be held with the Iowa State Teachers college "B" squad next Wednesday, Feb. 4.

In the 121-lb. class, James O'Connor (St. A) decisioned John Wenzler (W) 9-7. Oscar Beeshans (W) was pinned in the first period by Bill Walsh (St. A) in the 128-lb. class. This put the Bees in the lead 8-0.

Wartburg won 15 straight points when Jewayne Baumgartner (W) pinned Bob Taglar (St. A) in the second and third periods in the 136-lb. class; Chris Bowen (W) pinned Jim Hartman (St. A) in the first period of the 145-lb. class; Howard Wolfgram (W) pinned Bill Hoffman (St. A) in the first period of the 155-lb. class.

Jack Grothus (St. A) pinned Harold Wiltshire (W) in the third period in the 165-lb. group. In the 175-lb class, Ray Meier (W) decisioned Jim McGabe (St. A) 4-0. Joe Aquando (St. A) pinned Lloyd Koob (W) in the first period in the heavyweight class and tied the score at 18-all.

Looking 'Em Over

Although losing to both Upper Iowa and Buena Vista the past week, the Knights were far from push-overs.

In the first half of the Upper Iowa game the Peacocks used their height to great advantage. In the second half, this advantage was eliminated by the long shots of the Knight sharpshooters, who scored over 40 per cent of their shots. This defeat can be chalked up to the inaccuracy of the loopsters at the free throw line. This was the roughest game that your reporter has ever witnessed.

In the Buena Vista encounter, the Knights were trailing 28-14 before changing from a zone to a man-to-man defense, and had only a five-point deficit at the half. The lead changed hands several times in the last half, with the outcome in balance until the final gun was sounded.

Jim Keller, who has made lengthy appearances in the last three games, has consistently showed his wares in hitting the bucket with his long shot.

The biggest improvement in the squad in the last two games has been the appearance of Paul Bruns in the lineup. As expected, Bruns' accurate shooting and stellar floor game have kept the spectators on the edge of their seats throughout the game.

In the last few games, some of the Knight players have been caught napping on the floor, with the opposition stealing the ball and scoring easy baskets.

Around the Conference

University of Dubuque is currently riding on the top of the Iowa conference with six victories and no defeats. The Knights will attempt to add a defeat to that record in their game tonight. Luther, Simpson and Upper Iowa are tied for runner-up honors. The Knights are in the third spot—from the bottom.

Battle for second spot in the conference should be decided this week-end, with Simpson playing both Luther and Upper Iowa. If Simpson can win both these games, it will clinch second place, unless the Knight cagers pull an upset and defeat Dubuque, which accomplishment would place the latter and Simpson in a tie for loop honors.

Predictions

Wartburg Knights cannot win the loop championship this year, but they can have much to do with who does. Tonight the lads will upset the University of Dubuque, forcing that team into a first place tie with several of the other conference schools.

Hitting the road next week-end, the Knights will suffer a defeat at the hands of the Central Dutchmen Friday, and will gain another victory over Iowa Wesleyan Saturday night.

The "New Look" for the spring of '48, according to latest reports, are full, swinging skirts, that waist look, big hats and short hair styles. For the men, the latest reports inform us that suit jackets will be longer.

For your new spring wardrobe why not consider a new grey suit? A nipped, up-to-the-minute waist, a swirl of skirt, a trig bit of piqué at the throat. Make it momentous with a stiff-standing petticoat that changes your silhouette, a bunk of bracelets or a fresh nosegay. You can use all your blazing accessories with a suit like this, or wear it solo. A dressed-up hat, and you can take it to church; a circle of straw, and go shopping.

The pride and joy of a number of coeds are the swirling ballerina skirts. Ruth Floy and Lois Jean Chesley, are two of the coeds who have been seen recently styling these skirts. With her skirt Lois Jean wears a plaid taffeta underskirt which just peeks out under the hemline. Very chic, we must admit.

Popular for wear at the basketball games and at other occasions are the "Gibson Girl" blouses. Marilyn Mueller styled such a blouse at the game Tuesday with a green wool plaid skirt.

Today's rayons are the most extraordinary and versatile fabrics of our time. They have acquired consistent beauty, stamina and a fashion silhouette. If you are getting blouses for your spring wardrobe consider one of the new rayons. They are grand because they are beautifully washable, hoarding color through a life of wash days. Dressed-up rayons also wash remarkably well.

New in the fabric line is "Pride of Miami" a new taffeta weave in cotton. The patterns were inspired by Miami's gay playtime mood. Sunproof and ocean-proof—it's vat dyed in order not to fade, and sanforized, not to shrink even one per cent. Keep on the alert for this new fabric, as it's beautiful for that new bathing suit, sundress, Gibson Girl blouse, a two-piece dress and, oh, so many other pieces in your spring and summer wardrobe.

'Fervent In Spirit, Serving Lord' Covered During Emphasis Week

"Fervent in Spirit, Serving the Lord," the general theme of Religious Emphasis week, was carried out this week by two speakers who delivered six addresses.

Dr. Martin J. Heinecken, professor of systematic theology at Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa., and graduate of Wartburg college and Wartburg Seminary, delivered three addresses at convocations held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings.

Topics of Dr. Heinecken's speeches were "The World We Live In," "The Lord Who Calls Us" and "The Tasks Which Face Us."

Good World, But Fallen.

"This is the world in which we live," stated Dr. Heinecken, "a good world but a fallen world, a world under judgment for sin. And into this world there once came—not a messenger only from above—but the Lord of Glory Himself in lowly servant form. And into this world this same Lord still comes in Word and Sacrament."

"This is Religious Emphasis week," said the speaker. "We realize, of course, how ridiculous the notion of one week in the year in which we pay some passing heed to religion . . . Religion is not something to which you can pay heed one week of the year or a few moments of the day."

Dr. Heinecken pointed out that Christian citizens will have a duty to perform on every level of competence and ability. Every area of life, labor, politics, science, etc., needs Christian leadership.

Mrs. Kalkwarf At Chapel.

Speaking at chapel services on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Mrs. Orville Kalkwarf of Mason City, Wis., stressed the three aspects of stewardship—searching, serving and saving.

"The Stewardship of searching leads to that of serving, and the goal of all is the stewardship of saving," said Mrs. Kalkwarf.

"Only those who are diligently searching through prayer find the joy of service or salvation."

"We have a blessed duty, but we have to be corrected even as Peter was," stated the speaker. "Mere intellectual understanding is not enough. We must keep our ears and eyes open, our hands outstretched, and we must search diligently for our place of service."

Mrs. Kalkwarf pointed out that the spirit of service must be fervent; that is, bubbling and boiling, full of zeal to do His will. This zeal must be guided, however, so that it is on the right track.

"We must realize the value of searching and serving before we can approach the saving," advised Mrs. Kalkwarf. "We all know that saving is done by the Holy Spirit; it is beyond the power of the individual, but it is done by human agents. We then as Christians must plant. We must grow, and we must serve."

Dr. Heinecken will deliver the final address of Religious Emphasis week tomorrow morning when he delivers the sermon for the 7:45 a.m. Communion services at St. Paul's Lutheran church. His subject will be "For Strengthening Along the Way."
